

THE CAMP: RESEARCHING VIOLENCE, EXCLUSION AND TEMPORARINESS (III ED.)

A seminar series part of the Urban and Regional Development teaching program and part of a transdisciplinary research lead by Prof. Camillo Boano. Sessions, all in English, are open to anyone interested.

The camp is emerging at the crossroads of urban studies, architecture, geography, anthropology and humanitarian practice, reflecting both the spatialisation of biopolitics and the urbanization of emergency. Camp studies have challenge various paradigms, form of knowledge and protocols. This seminar series is intended as interdisciplinary reflection on the dispositif of the camp dissecting the tensions between permanence and temporariness, exception and normalization, politicization and depoliticization. The seminars are part of the Urban and Regional Development PhD program but open to everyone who wish to attend and contribute. The series is part of a transdisciplinary research lead by Prof. Camillo Boano around such specific site of enquiry, struggle and subjectivation.

Sessions are in English.
