

Centro Studi Vera Comoli
Center for History,
Heritage and
Inclusive Innovation

9 March 2026 | h 15.00

Sala dello Zodiaco, Castello del Valentino
Viale Mattioli 39, Torino

Prof. Marie-Paule Jungblut

Professor at the University of Luxembourg and Liège

Heritage and artificial intelligence: ongoing research experiences

As part of the series of seminars
“Heritage as a Project”

Overture

Rosa Tamborrino

*Coordinator of the Centre for History, Heritage and Inclusive
Innovation - Centro Studi Vera
Comoli*

Full Professor at the DIST Department

Marie-Paule Jungblut is a public historian. She is known for her intellectual and practical leadership in pushing traditional museum boundaries, both in the subject of exhibitions and in the means used by museums to engage audiences. Currently, she is influencing the next generation of public historians and museum professionals through her work at the Universities of Luxembourg and Liège where she is teaching courses in public history and museology and expressing her ideas through publications.

Politecnico di Torino

